

TERMS & CONDITIONS

The terms and conditions contained here shall be applied to our website and any other linked pages to it. Any user logging here shall be presumed to have read all the policies and terms clearly mentioned here. The terms of use never get changed or edited in any way or by any means with respect to our services. It is clearly mentioned that the funds will not be settled if the user has not clearly completed his or her KYC or other verification details. We reserve the right to not release the settlement in case of any mistake from the user's side.

Clicking to accept the conditions, the user will legally be bound to remain in the terms of our service and agreements. We clearly do not provide any warranty, completeness or suitability of the information provided on our platform for any particular reason or purpose. Your usage of any information or any important and confidential data is at your own risk. Our company will not be held 'reliable' or 'responsible' for any loss. It is your uttermost responsibility to keep a clear check and confirmation about your personal details.

The website consists of data and content which is solely licensed to us. Reproduction is strictly prohibited other than the copyright notice which also serves as a huge part in the Terms and Conditions. Unauthorised use of our platform can be considered as a strict offence which may further lead to strict actions against the person and can be charged for a 'Criminal Offence'